Before Banks, Shiners, and Krantz, Members.

DECISION

BANKS, Member: These consolidated cases are before the Public Employment Relations Board (PERB or Board) on cross-exceptions to a proposed decision (attached) of an administrative law judge (ALJ). The underlying charges alleged violations of the Educational Employment Relations Act (EERA)¹ during a campaign by United Teachers Los Angeles (UTLA) to organize certificated employees at 25 charter schools affiliated with the Alliance College-Ready Public Schools charter management organization (Alliance or the Alliance CMO).² The amended complaint in PERB Case No. LA-CE-6165-E alleged that all of the Alliance-affiliated charter schools (Charter Schools) violated EERA when Alliance, acting as their agent, summoned law enforcement to stop distribution of union literature outside a new teacher orientation program, and refused to meet and discuss a new teacher evaluation program. Additionally, the amended complaint alleged that one of the Charter Schools, Alliance Morgan McKinzie High School (Morgan McKinzie HS), interfered with protected rights by coercively misinforming employees about the consequences of unionization. Finally, the amended complaint in PERB Case No. LA-CE-6204-E alleged that another of the Charter Schools, Alliance Dr. Olga Mohan High School (Mohan HS), violated EERA by directing an employee and a UTLA organizer who were engaged in protected activities to leave the school premises.

The proposed decision concluded that the Charter Schools violated their duty to meet and discuss and that Morgan McKinzie HS interfered with protected rights, as alleged in the amended complaint. All other allegations were dismissed. The Charter Schools filed exceptions contending that none of their conduct violated EERA. UTLA cross-exceptions to the dismissal of the other allegations.

Based on our review of the proposed decision, the entire record, and relevant legal authority in light of the parties' submissions, we adopt the factual findings of the proposed decision, and affirm in part and reverse in part its conclusions. Specifically, we agree that the Charter Schools violated their duty to meet and discuss and that Morgan McKinzie HS interfered with protected rights. However, we conclude that the record evidence is sufficient to prove that the Charter Schools interfered with protected rights when their agent called law enforcement to stop union handbilling outside a teacher orientation program, and that Mohan HS interfered with access rights by directing an employee and a UTLA organizer to leave the premises. We will therefore issue a new order requiring the appropriate Charter Schools to cease and desist their unlawful conduct and to post a notice to affected employees.

A prefatory note is necessary before explaining our findings. In 2017 and 2018, UTLA and certain respondent Alliance schools filed exceptions asking us to review three different proposed decisions involving unfair practice allegations, including the proposed decision at issue here. Then, in 2019, the parties participated in a lengthy hearing regarding UTLA's requests for recognition at several individual schools, PERB Case Nos. LA-RR-1281-E, LA-RR-1282-E, and LA-RR-1283-E. Given that we already had before us the three unfair practice proposed decisions, rather than wait for the assigned ALJ to issue a decision, we transferred the representation matter to our docket at the conclusion of the hearing. Today, we issue decisions in the pending unfair practice and representation matters. In one of those unfair practice matters, UTLA sought to prove that Alliance schools and its CMO constituted a single employer, while respondents disagreed and averred that each school was autonomous. By contrast, Respondents sought in the representation case to prove that the schools, without the CMO, constitute a single employer, and UTLA disagreed. The parties' evolving positions on the schools' autonomy and other facts relevant to the single employer doctrine would have made such issues difficult to decide, but ultimately there is no cause for us to do so. Respondents have notified PERB that effective January 1, 2020, they have adopted a new organizational structure. Although there are no such facts in the records in any case pending before the Board, this notification apparently suggests that future cases involving these parties might have different facts. We find no need to decide whether the now-superseded Alliance structure met the single employer test. In the unfair practice matters, the single employer question lost its salience given our 2017 decision that we have no jurisdiction over the CMO and the parties' subsequent stipulation that the CMO acted as the agent of the schools in certain instances (today, we find such agency to exist in one other case in which the parties did not enter into such a stipulation). In the absence of any single employer finding, we do not hold any school to be liable for the acts of any other school, especially as no party contended that one school acted as an agent for another school. Thus, we find a school liable only to the extent that it, or the CMO on its behalf, committed a violation. In the representation matter, we find that principles of justice prevent the schools from meeting their burden of proof on the single employer issue, even if the facts could be construed to satisfy the single employer test. Moreover, as an alternate basis for our decision in the representation decision, we explain therein why, even if principles of justice did not prevent the schools from meeting their burden to show single employer status, there would still be other, independent reasons why they could not show that a network-wide unit was the only appropriate unit configuration.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The ALJ's procedural history and relevant findings of fact can be found in the attached proposed decision. We recount many of those facts here to provide context for our discussion of the parties' exceptions.

UTLA is an employee organization within the meaning of EERA section 3540.1, subdivision (d). Alliance Environmental Science and Technology High School (ESAT),³ Morgan McKinzie HS, Mohan HS, and the following 22 individual Charter Schools are each public school employers within the meaning of EERA section 3540.1, subdivision (k): Alliance Gertz-Ressler High School/Richard Merkin 6-12 Complex, Alliance Collins Family College-Ready Academy High School, Alliance Judy Ivie Burton Technology Academy High School, Alliance Marc and Eva Stern Math and Science School, Alliance Patti and Peter Neuwirth Leadership Academy, Alliance Ouchi – O'Donovan 6-12 Complex, Alliance Piera Barbaglia Shaheen Health Services Academy, Alliance Cindy and Bill Simon Technology Academy High School, Alliance Tennenbaum Family Technology High School, Alliance Susan and Eric Smidt Technology High School, Alliance Ted K. Tajima High School, Alliance Renee and Meyer Luskin Academy High School, Alliance Margaret M. Bloomfield Technology Academy High School, Alliance Alice M. Baxter College-Ready High School, Alliance Jack H. Skirball Middle School, Alliance College-Ready Middle Academy No. 4, Alliance College-Ready Middle

Academy No. 5, Alliance College-Ready Middle Academy No. 8, Alliance Kory Hunter Middle School, Alliance Leadership Middle Academy, Alliance Marine-Innovation and Technology 6-12 Complex, and Alliance College-Ready Middle Academy No. 12.

According to the parties' stipulation, Alliance and its high-ranking employee, Howard Lappin (Lappin), were agents of the Charter Schools at all relevant times.

Alliance and Alliance Educators United

Alliance is a non-profit CMO affiliated with a network of 25 charter schools in the Los Angeles area, each bearing the name "Alliance." In 2015, a group of certificated employees from several Alliance-affiliated charter schools publicly announced their intent to form a union with UTLA. The group named itself Alliance Educators United (AEU).

UTLA and AEU's Request to Meet Regarding New Evaluation System

On April 1, 2016,⁴ UTLA and AEU sent a request to Dan Katzir (Katzir), the CEO of Alliance, requesting "to meet and confer regarding the evaluation processes currently used for both teachers and counselors across the Alliance." The teachers believed the current evaluation system, which directly impacted their pay, was not useful and had suggestions for how to improve the system. UTLA and AEU's request asked that Alliance contact UTLA President Alex Caputo-Pearl (Caputo-Pearl) to schedule a time to meet.

On April 7, Alliance sent an e-mail to certificated employees at Alliance-affiliated schools announcing the creation of a new optional teacher evaluation system for the 2016-2017 school year, called the "Streamlined Evaluation Pilot." Alliance's e-mail stated it created the Streamlined Evaluation Pilot with input and feedback gathered over the previous year from teachers and school leaders. Based on that feedback, the e-mail stated the Streamlined Evaluation Pilot would make a number of changes to the evaluation process.

On April 8, Irina Constantin (Constantin), an attorney representing Alliance, sent a letter to Caputo-Pearl agreeing to meet at a mutually acceptable time to discuss evaluation processes but requesting further information prior to doing so, including identification of the specific parts of the evaluation process that UTLA and AEU wished to discuss and employee survey results that were referenced in AEU's April 1 letter.

On April 27, UTLA and AEU sent a letter to Katzir that included a non-exhaustive list of the parts of the evaluation process it wished to discuss and the survey results referenced in its April 1 letter. The letter proposed several dates in May for a meeting.

On May 10, Constantin sent a letter to Caputo-Pearl requesting "complete information" from UTLA and AEU or, in the alternative, an explanation as to why complete information was not provided. The letter proposed several dates in June for a meeting.

On May 20, UTLA and AEU sent a letter to Katzir agreeing to meet with Alliance on June 15. The letter also objected to Constantin's assertion that AEU had provided incomplete information.

The parties met as scheduled on June 15. The teachers who were present discussed a number of concerns they had about the evaluation process, proposed solutions, and raised questions about the Streamlined Evaluation Pilot. Although there was dialogue over some of the teachers' questions and suggestions, Alliance representatives did not respond to all of the teachers' proposed solutions. The meeting ended with Caputo-Pearl requesting to schedule another meeting. Constantin asked that the request be put in writing.

On June 24, UTLA and AEU sent a letter to Katzir requesting “to schedule a meeting to meet and confer about evaluation processes and continue the discussion from the meeting held on June 15, 2016.” The letter stated that a second meeting was necessary to hear Alliance’s response to the proposed solutions the teachers offered during the June 15 meeting.

On July 26, Catherine Sutor, Alliance’s Chief Communications Officer, sent a letter to Caputo-Pearl stating in relevant part, “[b]ased on guidance from our counsel, at this time, we do not believe a second meeting is required or necessary.”

Distribution of Flyers at a New Teacher Orientation Held on the ESAT Campus

ESAT is located on property owned by the Los Angeles Community College District (LACCD). Alisha Mernick (Mernick) and Valerie Felix (Felix) are two teachers who work at Alliance-affiliated charter schools. Jessica Foster (Foster) is a UTLA organizer assigned to the AEU organizing campaign.

On July 25, the Charter Schools held a new teacher orientation on the ESAT campus. New teacher orientation provides onboarding for all teachers new to the Alliance network. That morning, Foster, Mernick, and Felix met at a restaurant adjacent to the ESAT campus. Mernick and Felix left the restaurant at 7:45 a.m. and passed through an automobile gate to enter the ESAT campus. From there, they walked to the campus buildings and positioned themselves on a sidewalk directly in front of the main entrance. Felix distributed literature for about 15 minutes then left to prepare for a presentation she was scheduled to give during the new teacher orientation.

While Mernick continued to distribute flyers, a sheriff's deputy, Deputy Fajardjo, pulled up in a marked car. He was wearing the uniform of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, carried a gun, and wore a badge. Mernick testified that Deputy Fajardjo stated Alliance wanted Mernick to leave.⁵ Mernick replied that she had a right to be there and asked who complained about her presence. Deputy Fajardjo stated Lappin complained. At that time, Lappin was serving as the Alliance Chief Schools Officer, but he was scheduled to serve as the interim principal of Alliance Gertz-Ressler High School (Gertz-Ressler HS) following the new teacher orientation.

There are glass doors at ESAT's main entrance, followed by a hallway and then another set of glass doors that open into a courtyard. From her position on the sidewalk in front of the main entrance, Mernick testified she could see Lappin in the ESAT courtyard for most of the time she was present on campus. She handed Deputy Fajardjo one of the flyers she was distributing and suggested he speak to Lappin. Deputy Fajardjo took the flyer and went into the building. Mernick could see Deputy Fajardjo speaking to Lappin in the courtyard. At that point, Mernick called Foster and requested that she come to ESAT.

By the time Deputy Fajardjo came back outside, Foster had arrived. Deputy Fajardjo told Foster "they" did not want Foster and Mernick to be there and that the two of them would have to leave. Foster replied that she and Mernick had a right to be there. Deputy Fajardjo stated his supervisor was on his way. Foster responded she would be glad to speak to the supervisor.

⁵ Deputy Fajardjo did not testify.

At about 8:15 a.m., Deputy Fajardjo's supervisor arrived. Mernick continued distributing literature in front of the main entrance while Foster, Deputy Fajardjo, and Deputy Fajardjo's supervisor walked about 20 feet down the sidewalk. Foster testified that the supervisor stated Lappin and Alliance did not want Foster and Mernick to be there and that they had to leave.⁶ Deputy Fajardjo also stated Alliance CEO Katzir did not want Foster and Mernick to be there. Foster replied she and Mernick had a legal right to be where they were. Deputy Fajardjo's supervisor stated there would be no issue if Foster and Mernick moved outside the automobile gate and distributed literature off ESAT grounds. Foster replied that she and Mernick did not have to leave the ESAT grounds. The sheriff's deputies responded that if Mernick and Foster stayed on the property over Lappin's objection, the deputies could make a citizen's arrest for trespassing if Lappin so desired.⁷

Foster asked to speak to Lappin. The sheriff's deputies escorted Foster inside ESAT and directed her to wait in the hallway outside their office while they spoke to Lappin. The sheriff's office is by the main entrance to ESAT, and from her position Foster could see the sheriff's deputies speaking to Lappin. Fajardjo's supervisor finished speaking to Lappin and informed Foster that Lappin did not want to speak to her and that Steve Harvey (Harvey), the property manager, would be contacting her about trespassing charges. Foster exited ESAT and joined Mernick to distribute literature.

⁶ Deputy Fajardjo's supervisor was not identified by name and did not testify.

⁷ The Charter Schools contend that LACCD contracted with the Los Angeles County Sheriff to provide policing services. However, it is undisputed that the deputies were acting as peace officers at all relevant times. We therefore do not determine whether Deputy Fajardjo and his supervisor were working for Los Angeles County or LACCD during the events at ESAT on July 15, 2016, as that fact is irrelevant to the resolution of this dispute.

At around 8:40 a.m., the sheriff's deputies and Harvey approached Foster and Mernick. According to Foster, Harvey stated he was speaking in his capacity as property manager for the LACCD and that she and Mernick had to leave.⁸ The sheriff's deputies stated that if Lappin had not complained, there would be no issue. While Foster was speaking to Harvey and the sheriff's deputies, Lappin approached Mernick and said that he had checked and it was okay for her and Foster to stay until 9:00 a.m. Lappin then approached Foster, the sheriff's deputies, and Harvey, and stated that he had spoken to the attorneys and Mernick and Foster could stay. Foster turned to Harvey and asked whether she and Mernick could then continue to distribute literature on the property, considering Lappin's approval. Harvey stated that they could.

Foster and Mernick distributed literature until shortly before the start of the new teacher orientation at 9:00 a.m., then left the ESAT campus.

Morgan McKinzie HS Staff Meeting

On August 5, teachers at Morgan McKinzie HS were on campus for a staff meeting followed by professional development training.

During the staff meeting, Arthur Sanchez (Sanchez), principal of Morgan McKinzie HS, used a whiteboard to explain how full-time equivalent (FTE) (i.e., the number of teachers needed at a school site) is calculated. His explanation included a mathematical formula. He explained that, first, special education students are subtracted from the total number of students, the resulting figure is multiplied by the number of periods in a day then divided by class size, and the resulting number is called the “section number.” He further explained that the section number is then divided by the number of classes taught by each teacher to determine FTE.

Sanchez said that at Morgan McKinzie HS, there are about 320 students, of which 20 are special education students.⁹ He continued by stating that there are six periods in a day, the class size is set at 20, and teachers are required to teach 5 classes.¹⁰ After plugging these figures into the FTE formula, Sanchez calculated the school's FTE as 18. Sanchez then did the same calculation using different class size numbers, while keeping the other variables the same. First, he used a class size of 32, which he stated was the class size set forth in the collective bargaining agreement (CBA) between the school district and the exclusive representative when he was a principal at Eisenhower High School. The formula produced an FTE of 11.5. Next, he used a class size of 30, which he stated was the class size set forth in the CBA between the school district and the exclusive representative when he was a principal in the Montebello Unified School District. The formula produced an FTE of 12. Finally, he wanted to use class size in the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD), which he believed to be 45 based on his review of the CBA between UTLA and LAUSD. However, because the classrooms at Morgan McKinzie HS could not hold 45 students, he used a class size of 35. The formula produced an FTE of 10. Sanchez then subtracted 10 from 18 and drew an 8 on the whiteboard. Inside the 8 he drew a sad face because that is how many teachers would be lost if class sizes at Morgan McKinzie HS were 35. Sanchez stated that if the school were to lose teachers, the only teacher who would be safe was the special education teachers.

⁹ Sanchez testified these were not the exact student numbers for Morgan McKinzie HS but rather “rounded” numbers to make the calculations easier.

Gary Carter (Carter), a Morgan McKinzie HS teacher who is active in AEU, stated it seemed like Sanchez was attempting to discourage unionization. Sanchez replied that was not his intent and that he only wanted to give facts about how FTE is calculated. When Carter stated Alliance was spending a lot of money to oppose AEU's organizing campaign, Sanchez stated UTLA was also spending a lot of money on the campaign.

Sanchez testified that he discussed class sizes and FTE to address concerns two teachers had brought to him regarding the potential impact of unionization on their jobs. Sanchez claimed he told the teachers that he would follow whatever the CBA required and that there is a formula to determine FTE. He told the teachers he would raise the issue at the staff meeting.

Sanchez testified that he had reviewed the class size provisions of the CBA between UTLA and LAUSD two years prior to the hearing. He did not recall specifics, but recalled the number 45 sticking with him regarding class size. However, the class size provisions of the 2014-2017 CBA allowed for wide variance in class sizes based on a number of factors. They also limited maximum class size to 39, with the exception of physical education at secondary schools, which could go as high as 55.

Denial of Access at Mohan HS

On September 29, Mernick and Patrick Sheehan (Sheehan), a UTLA organizer, visited Mohan HS after classes ended to talk to teachers. After signing in, they went to the first open classroom and engaged with the teacher inside. Mernick testified that at some point Kim Lim (Lim), another Mohan HS teacher, entered the classroom and said the campus was closed to Mernick and Sheehan.¹¹ Lim stated the policy was that no visitors be allowed on campus when the regular administrator was not present. She also said the principal had called her and told her to ask Mernick and Sheehan to leave. Sheehan contacted Foster for guidance. Foster advised Sheehan that he and Mernick were to leave the campus rather than escalate the situation.

On October 3, Stephanie Tsai (Tsai), Principal in Residence at Gertz-Ressler HS, sent an e-mail to Mernick, copying the principal of Mohan HS, Loreen Riley, that stated in relevant part:

“I understand that on Thursday, September 29, you visited [Mohan HS] after school hours and were told by Ms. Kim Lim, a teacher at the school, that because the principal and assistant principal were not present, you and the [UTLA] representative accompanying you could not enter the school. Ms. Kim [sic], who was functioning as an administrative designee in the absence of the principal and assistant principal, was in error. Insofar as visits to any Alliance campus after school hours are concerned, you and any [UTLA] representative may enter the campus until the final extracurricular activity is completed and administration officially closes the school.”

Mernick teaches at Gertz-Ressler HS. She testified that at her school site, the administrative designee acts as an administrator when there are none on campus and performs administrative duties such as issuing discipline and interacting with parents.

¹¹ Lim did not testify.

DISCUSSION

When resolving exceptions to a proposed decision, the Board applies a de novo standard of review both to issues of fact and law. However, “to the extent exceptions merely reiterate factual or legal contentions resolved correctly in the proposed decision, the Board need not further analyze those exceptions.” (San Diego Community College District (2019) PERB Decision No. 2666, p. 5 (citations omitted).) With these principles in mind, we affirm for the reasons stated in the proposed decision the ALJ’s conclusion that Sanchez’s statements during the staff meeting at Morgan McKinzie HS on August 5, 2016, violated EERA because they implicitly threatened teachers with job loss if they selected UTLA as their bargaining representative.¹²

The Board also need not address alleged errors that would not impact the outcome of the case. (Los Angeles Unified School District (2015) PERB Decision

¹² We contextualize the proposed decision’s citation to Rio Hondo Community College District (1980) PERB Decision No. 128, for the proposition that an employer’s statement of views cannot be considered evidence of an unfair practice unless it contains a threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefit, i.e. is itself an unfair practice. While this statement of the law is generally correct in assessing a prima facie case for interference, it does not hold true in other contexts where an employer’s motive is relevant. In those contexts, anti-union statements may be relied upon to establish animus even if they do not constitute a discrete unfair practice. (See, e.g., Brink’s (2014) 360 NLRB 1206, 1206, fn. 3; NLRB v. Vemco, Inc. (6th Cir. 1993) 989 F.2d 1468, 1477 [protected speech like anti-union policy in employer’s handbook may serve as “background evidence of anti-union animus”]; Best Products Company (1978) 236 NLRB 1024, enforcement denied NLRB v. Best Products Co., Inc. (9th Cir. 1980) 618 F.2d 70 [“conduct which may not violate Section 8(a)(1) of the Act may still be used to show union animus on the part of a respondent”].)

Although motive is not an issue in this case, Member Shiners agrees that anti-union statements by an individual involved in an allegedly discriminatory adverse action may be used to establish an unlawful motive for the action even if the statements do not

No. 2432, p. 2; Regents of the University of California (1991) PERB Decision No. 891-H, p. 4.) Many of the exceptions and cross-exceptions focus on minor factual disputes or discrepancies in the proposed decision that would not change the analysis. We focus instead on those issues that are critical to the findings and conclusions on review.

I. Failure to Meet and Discuss the Pilot Teacher Evaluation Program

The proposed decision concluded that the Charter Schools violated their duty to meet and discuss a matter of fundamental concern to employees by refusing to hold a second meeting with UTLA and AEU to discuss the new pilot teacher evaluation program. We affirm this conclusion for the reasons stated in the proposed decision, as supplemented by the below analysis of the Charter Schools' exceptions.

The Charter Schools except to the ALJ's decision to include in his analysis the fact that the Charter Schools implemented the pilot program in April 2016, without giving UTLA prior notice or an opportunity to meet and discuss the matter. According to the Charter Schools, the inclusion of this fact—the accuracy of which they do not contest—themselves constitute unfair practices. (See, e.g., Palo Verde Unified School District (2013) PERB Decision No. 2337, pp. 15-16; Trustees of the California State University (San Marcos) (2009) PERB Decision No. 2070-H, p. 11.) However, Member Shiners would follow authority holding that an employer's general opposition to unionization, as conveyed through statutorily protected, non-coercive speech, cannot be used to prove anti-union animus in such a case. (See, e.g., Medeco Security Locks, Inc. v. NLRB (4th Cir. 1998) 142 F.3d 733, 744; BE&K Const. Co. v. NLRB (11th Cir. 1997) 133 F.3d 1372, 1376-1377; NLRB v. Best Products Co., Inc., supra, 618 F.2d at p. 74.)

Additionally, we note that this case arose before the Legislature enacted section 3550, the Prohibition on Public Employers Deterring or Discouraging Union Membership (PEDD), which states that public employers “shall not deter or discourage public employees . . . from becoming or remaining members of an employee organization.” We express no opinion as to whether any of Sanchez's communications would have violated the PEDD.

amounted to an impermissible finding of liability for an unalleged unilateral change to terms and conditions of employment. We disagree.

Under the unalleged violations doctrine, PERB has discretion to consider allegations not included in the charge or the complaint if: (1) the respondent has had adequate notice and opportunity to defend against the unalleged matter; (2) the unalleged conduct is intimately related to the subject matter of the complaint and is part of the same course of conduct; (3) the matter has been fully litigated; (4) the parties have had the opportunity to examine and be cross-examined on the issue; and (5) the unalleged conduct occurred within the same limitations period as those matters alleged in the complaint. (Fresno County Superior Court (2017) PERB Decision No. 2517-C, p. 13, affirmed in relevant part Superior Court v. Public Employment Relations Bd. (2018) 30 Cal.App.5th 158, 192–193.)

However, it is not necessary to determine whether these elements are satisfied here because the proposed decision did not find the Charter Schools liable for an unalleged unilateral change. Indeed, the complaint contained no such allegation because UTLA was not the exclusive representative of any of the Charter Schools' employees and thus had no standing to allege a bargaining violation. (See, e.g., Alum Rock Union Elementary School District (1983) PERB Decision No. 322, p. 24; Hanford Joint Union High School District Board of Trustees (1978) PERB Decision No. 58, p. 6.) Rather, the proposed decision concluded that the evidence supported the complaint allegation that the Charter Schools violated their duty under EERA section 3543.1, subdivision (a) to meet and discuss the pilot evaluation program with UTLA and AEU.

UTLA and AEU first requested to meet and discuss the evaluation program on April 1, 2016. The Charter Schools then announced the implementation of the pilot program on April 7. By the time the parties first met on June 15, the Charter Schools had already reached a decision to proceed with the changes to the evaluation program. Such conduct undermined the possibility of a true give-and-take discussion of the subject and the ALJ was correct to note this fact. The use of uncontroverted evidence to support the ultimate conclusion that the Charter Schools violated their duty to meet and discuss does not amount to finding that the Charter Schools were also liable for an unalleged violation.

Likewise, we reject the Charter Schools' contention that they had no duty to meet and discuss the new teacher evaluation program. In Los Angeles Unified School District (1983) PERB Decision No. 285 (LAUSD), the Board held that EERA affords employees the right to be represented by a nonexclusive representative unless and until an exclusive representative has been selected. (Id. at pp. 6-7.) Without exploring the full scope of a nonexclusive representative's right of representation, the Board found that "at a minimum it encompasses the right to meet and discuss with the public school employer subjects as fundamental to the employment relationship as wages and fringe benefits." (Id. at p. 8.) While this right is not coextensive with the right of an exclusive representative to bargain about all matters within the scope of representation, it does require the public school employer to listen to and take into account the views of the nonexclusive representative before reaching a firm decision on the subject(s) of discussion. (Ibid.)

The evaluations at issue were matters of fundamental concern to the employees, since the Charter Schools used them for determining merit pay increases and promotional opportunities. (See City of Davis (2016) PERB Decision No. 2494-M, pp. 29-30, citing Ampersand Publ'g, LLC (2015) 362 NLRB No. 26 [employee performance evaluations, especially those that have the potential to affect the amount of bonus an employee might receive, are important and mandatory subjects of bargaining].) Thus, it is clear that the Charter Schools had a duty to meet and discuss upon request before reaching any decision to implement a new evaluation regime.

The Charter Schools contend that the introduction of the pilot evaluation program did not constitute a change to its existing teacher evaluation policy. The record does not support this contention, particularly given that the Charter Schools announced multiple new program features, including that the program was designed to halve the time that teachers and observers spend on the observation cycle, eliminate the lesson planning requirement, and provide more opportunities for coaching and feedback. Such changes are material to the evaluation process and were legitimate subjects for meeting and discussion.

Citing to Regents of the University of California (1990) PERB Decision No. 842-H, the Charter Schools contend that “the rights of the nonexclusive employee organizations, to the extent they exist, are derivative; they are the rights of an agent or representative of the employee.” (Id. at p. 13, emphasis omitted.) Notably, unlike EERA, the Higher Education Employer-Employee Relations Act (HEERA),¹³ which governs the University of California, does not grant nonexclusive employee organizations an independent right to represent their members. (Regents of University of California v. Public Employment Relations Bd. (1985) 168 Cal.App.3d 937, 944-945.) But even under HEERA, a nonexclusive representative may assert employees’ rights on their behalf, such as by meeting with the employer to discuss proposed changes in working conditions. (Id. at p. 945.) Thus, we reject the Charter Schools' contention that UTLA had no right to demand to meet and discuss the evaluation program.

Finally, we agree with the proposed decision's conclusion that the Charter Schools impermissibly refused to engage in more than one meeting to discuss the evaluation program. While no fixed number of meetings is required to satisfy a public school employer's duty to meet and discuss with a nonexclusive representative and EERA does not require them to bargain to impasse, the duty to meet and discuss does require the parties to engage in the process in good faith, i.e., with a willingness to listen and to give and accept reasons for their actions or positions. Here, although there were additional outstanding issues related to the evaluation program left for the parties to discuss, the Charter Schools unilaterally decided that one meeting was sufficient and gave no explanation for their refusal to engage in further discussions with UTLA. By slamming the proverbial door in UTLA's face, the Charter Schools interfered with the nonexclusive employee organization's right to represent its members and the employees' right to representation.

II. Interference with Protected Rights at the New Teacher Orientation

The proposed decision found that UTLA failed to prove the Charter Schools involved the sheriff's deputies or otherwise sought to have Gertz-Ressler HS employee Mernick and UTLA organizer Foster removed from ESAT during their efforts to communicate with new teachers outside the orientation session, concluding the record evidence amounted to hearsay that was insufficient to prove the complaint allegations. Specifically, the proposed decision concluded the evidence was insufficient to establish that the sheriff's deputies were acting as agents of Alliance or the Charter Schools, a conclusion to which UTLA takes exception.

We need not decide whether the ALJ's finding of lack of agency was correct because that is not the proper inquiry. In the great majority of cases, law enforcement officers do not become the agents of those who summon them. We therefore do not analyze whether the deputies were agents of the Charter Schools, but instead consider whether the deputies acted at the request of the Charter Schools or their agent. We conclude that they did.

All of the evidence on this issue comes from the testimony of Foster and Mernick. Although their testimony about what the sheriff's deputies and Harvey said is hearsay, PERB regulations allow us to consider hearsay as corroborating evidence if, as here, the record also contains non-hearsay evidence supporting the same finding. (PERB Reg. 32176).¹⁴ Mernick testified that after Deputy Fajardjo arrived and spoke with her, she saw him enter the school and speak with Lappin, an admitted agent of the Charter Schools. Deputy Fajardjo then returned to the front entrance, his supervisor arrived, and they both spoke with Foster and Mernick. When Harvey arrived, he, the deputies, and Foster spoke about 20 feet away from Mernick. Lappin then came outside, spoke with Mernick, and then spoke with Foster, Harvey, and the deputies. After that conversation, the deputies departed. This uncontroverted, non-hearsay evidence supports a finding that Lappin requested the sheriff's deputies' presence at ESAT.

Moreover, Lappin's statements are not hearsay because they are authorized admissions. Under Evidence Code section 1222, a statement is not hearsay when "(a) [t]he statement was made by a person authorized by the party to make a statement or statements for him concerning the subject matter of the statement”; and “(b) [t]he evidence is offered either after admission of evidence sufficient to sustain a finding of such authority or, in the court’s discretion as to the order of proof, subject to the admission of such evidence.” The parties stipulated that, at all relevant times, Lappin was acting as the Charter Schools’ agent. Furthermore, Lappin’s statement to the deputies, Harvey, and Foster that he had spoken with attorneys who confirmed the organizers could distribute union literature near the front entrance of the school indicates Lappin had authority to speak for the Charter Schools concerning the organizers’ presence.

From the non-hearsay evidence in the record, it is logical and reasonable to infer that Lappin was the one who originally asked the deputies to remove the organizers from the front entrance of the school. (Evid. Code, § 600(b) “[a]n inference is a deduction of fact that may logically and reasonably be drawn from another fact or group of facts found or otherwise established in the action”.) The ALJ did not discredit Mernick, and we credit her testimony.¹⁵ Thus, we infer that Lappin was the source of the police activity and believe no other inference is reasonable.

Moreover, this inference is buttressed by the hearsay evidence, including the witnesses’ written statements made on the day of the encounter, that the deputies said they were following Lappin’s directions. (See, e.g., Palo Verde Unified School District, supra, PERB Decision No. 2337, p. 24 [hearsay evidence is admissible to corroborate non-hearsay evidence].) We therefore conclude that the Charter Schools, acting through their agent Lappin, asked the sheriff's deputies to stop Mernick and Foster from handbilling outside of the entrance to the new teacher orientation program.

Finally, the Charter Schools failed to call Lappin to testify, which itself leads to the inference that his testimony would not have contradicted the other witnesses' accounts. (Santa Ana Unified School District (2013) PERB Decision No. 2332, pp. 11-12, citing Daikichi Sushi (2006) 335 NLRB 622, 633 [failure to call witness leads to inference that testimony would have been contrary to respondent's litigation position]; see also Regents of the University of California (1987) PERB Decision No. 640-H, adopting proposed decision at p. 89 [discussing the adverse inference rule].) That is, if it were true, as the Charter Schools impliedly contend, that their agent was not responsible for the presence of the deputies, then they would have likely produced Lappin and others in order to contest the testimony of Mernick and the other witnesses who did testify.¹⁶ That the Charter Schools chose not to contest this evidence suggests that Mernick's testimony was correct. Therefore, based on these rational inferences drawn from the uncontroverted evidence, we conclude it is more likely than not that Lappin summoned the deputies and requested assistance in removing the employees and UTLA's organizer. (PERB Reg. 32178 [charging party must prove the allegations in the complaint by a preponderance of the evidence].)

We also conclude that the act of involving the deputies constituted unlawful interference under these circumstances. Regardless of its subjective motivation, an employer engages in unlawful interference in violation of EERA section 3543.5, subdivision (a), when its conduct interferes or tends to interfere with the exercise of protected rights in the absence of operational necessity. (Carlsbad Unified School District (1979) PERB Decision No. 89, pp. 10-11.) First, it is beyond dispute that Mernick and Foster were engaged in protected activities when they distributed union literature on non-work time in a non-work location, i.e., outside ESAT before the new teacher orientation. (See, e.g., Mt. San Antonio Community College District (1982) PERB Decision No. 224, pp. 6-7; Fresno County Superior Court, supra, PERB Decision

Member Shiners would not draw an adverse inference from the Charter Schools' failure to call Lappin to testify because UTLA had Lappin under a testimonial subpoena but declined to call him. Similarly, Member Shiners would not draw an adverse inference from the Charter Schools' failure to call the sheriff's deputies or Harvey to testify because UTLA had the opportunity to call them as witnesses but did not do so. (Trustees of the California State University (2008) PERB Decision No. 1970-H, p. 6; Victor Valley Community College District (1986) PERB Decision No. 570, p. 8, fn. 7.) Nonetheless, the Charter Schools' decision not to present any evidence about the events at ESAT on July 15, 2016, leaves us to rule based solely on the evidence presented by UTLA. (See Woodland Joint Unified School District (1987) PERB Decision No. 628, adopting proposed decision at p. 29 ["when a party testifies to favorable facts, and any contrary evidence is within the ability of the opposing party to produce, a failure to bring forth such evidence will require acceptance of the uncontradicted testimony unless there is some rational basis for disbelieving it"].)

No. 2517-C, p. 29, affirmed in relevant part, Fresno County Superior Court v. Public Employment Relations Board (2018) 30 Cal.App.5th 158; Richmond Unified School District/Simi Valley Unified School District (1979) PERB Decision No. 99, pp. 10, 15.)

Second, it is equally clear that the Charter Schools' conduct, viz., attempting to use the deputies to stop Mernick and Foster from distributing union literature on the property, actually interfered with this protected activity and thus caused at least slight harm to protected rights. (See, e.g., Fabric Warehouse (1989) 294 NLRB 189, enfd. sub nom. Hancock Fabrics v. NLRB (4th Cir. 1990) 902 F.2d 28; Jerry Cardullo Ironworks, Inc. (2003) 340 NLRB 515; see Indio Grocery Outlet (1997) 323 NLRB 1138 [attempting to cause police to arrest or remove persons engaged in protected activities constitutes interference].) Indeed, Mernick and Foster testified that they were unable to speak to as many new teachers as they had hoped because of the law enforcement presence. This is predictable since new teachers would be especially reluctant to associate themselves with any activity their employer might view as unlawful. Finally, the organizers' actions were at all times peaceful and did not interfere with the Charter Schools' operations. Thus, under these circumstances, there was no objective reason, let alone operational necessity, to involve the deputies or direct them to remove Mernick and Foster.

The proposed decision concluded that even if the Charter Schools wrongly attempted to have the deputies remove the organizers, this conduct was cured by Lappin's almost immediate retraction of the directive. We disagree. An employer's honest retraction can erase the effects of a prior coercive statement if and only if the retraction was made in a manner that completely nullified the coercive effects of the earlier repudiated conduct. (See Jurupa Unified School District (2015) PERB Decision No. 2458, p. 12.) Thus, an effective retraction must be: (1) timely; (2) unambiguous; (3) specific in nature to the coercive conduct; (4) free from other illegal conduct; (5) adequately publicized to the employees involved; (6) not followed by other illegal conduct; and (7) accompanied by assurances that the employer will not interfere with their protected rights in the future. (Id. at pp. 12-13, citing Passavant Memorial Hospital (1978) 237 NLRB 138, 138-139.) These criteria are not satisfied here because Lappin made no effort to publicize to the new teachers attending the orientation that UTLA had a right to distribute literature and that the deputies should not have been involved. Moreover, nothing in the record establishes that Lappin gave assurances that he would not engage in similar interference in the future. Thus, the Charter Schools did not cure their unlawful conduct.¹⁷

For all of these reasons, we agree with UTLA that the record evidence supports a conclusion that the Charter Schools interfered with protected rights when Lappin directed the deputies to remove persons engaged in the lawful distribution of union literature.

III. Interference with the Right of Access at Mohan HS

The proposed decision concluded that UTLA failed to establish that Lim, the administrative designee at Mohan HS, was acting within the scope of her delegated duties when she directed Mernick and Sheehan to leave the premises on ¹⁷ The proposed decision cited four decisions in which the Board found that interference was “de minimis” because it was fully and effectively retracted. (Proposed decision, pp. 23-24.) We clarify that the Board in those cases was not establishing separate “de minimis” and retraction defenses, and we treat them as one and the same.

September 29, 2016. We disagree because the record evidence was sufficient to establish that Lim was acting with apparent authority. We therefore conclude that Mohan HS violated EERA as alleged in the amended complaint.

Apparent authority may be found where an employer reasonably allows employees to perceive that it has authorized the agent to engage in the conduct in question. (Chula Vista Elementary School District (2004) PERB Decision No. 1647, p. 8.) Whether employees would reasonably believe under the circumstances that an agent was acting with apparent authority is an objective inquiry. (Id. at pp. 8-9; City of San Diego (2015) PERB Decision No. 2464-M, p. 18.) Here, the record evidence amply supports a reasonable belief by Mernick and Sheehan that Lim was acting within the scope of her authority as the school's agent when she instructed them to leave Mohan HS.

In its answer, Mohan HS admitted that Lim "told Mernick and [Sheehan] that they could not enter the school," and "that Lim was functioning as an administrative designee in the absence of the principal and assistant principal." Additionally, in an e-mail sent to Mernick four days later, the principal of Gertz-Ressler HS, Tsai, stated that Lim was acting as the administrative designee when she instructed Mernick and Sheehan to leave. Mohan HS's principal was copied on this e-mail and never corrected or disavowed it. Further, Lim told Mernick and Sheehan that the school's principal had told her to tell them to leave the campus. Based on this evidence, we conclude that Lim was an agent of Mohan HS on September 29, and that she was acting with apparent authority.

Mohan HS contends that this evidence is insufficient under the rule set out in Inglewood Unified School District (1990) PERB Decision No. 792 (Inglewood), to establish that Lim was acting with apparent authority. However, the facts of that case are distinguishable. In Inglewood, a principal filed a lawsuit against a union and several teachers, alleging they had committed a number of torts against him. In response, the union filed a charge against the school district, contending that the principal was acting with apparent authority as the district's agent when he filed a retaliatory lawsuit. The ALJ agreed with the union, basing his conclusion on the fact that the principal used the employees' school mailboxes to serve the lawsuit and the school district never repudiated his conduct. The Board, however, reversed and concluded that the union failed to establish that the principal was acting with apparent authority, finding that the school secretary who served the complaints was merely following her normal procedures for delivering mail and that the district had no duty to repudiate conduct with which it was not connected. (Id. at p. 20.) Without evidence that the school district authorized or ratified the lawsuit, the Board concluded that the union failed to establish apparent authority.

While it is well within the realm of possibility for an actual agent to file a lawsuit in his or her personal capacity (as in Inglewood), it is exceedingly unlikely that Lim would have issued her directive except with the authority of the principal of Mohan HS. Indeed, Lim claimed to have spoken about Mernick and Sheehan's presence with her principal, who was also copied on an e-mail regarding the incident that another principal sent four days later. Such evidence is sufficient to establish that Lim was an agent acting with at least apparent authority when she directed the union representatives to leave the school premises. (See, e.g., Einhorn Enterprises (1986) 279 NLRB 576 [employee was an agent when she "acted as a conduit between management and employees. Management used [the employee] in that capacity to relay information to

[other] employees, and employees informed [her] of matters they desired to have brought to the Respondent's attention").)

Mohan HS argues that Mernick and Sheehan failed to make the requisite inquiries to determine whether Lim was acting with apparent authority. To the contrary, the record evidence reveals that Sheehan asked Lim to explain her authority and the basis for her directive to leave the premises. Lim responded that the principal had told her to ask them to leave the premises. We are satisfied that Lim's actions were taken with apparent authority and that UTLA carried its burden to establish that Mohan HS is responsible for them.

Here, the record evidence establishes that Lim ordered Mernick and Sheehan to cease and desist their protected activities and to leave campus. This conduct interfered with the "fundamental rights of employee organizations to represent and communicate with employees and of employees to self-organize and communicate with one another in the workplace." (Petaluma City Elementary School District/Joint Union High School District (2016) PERB Decision No. 2485, p. 44 (italics original.) Indeed, unless employees and employee organizations can effectively communicate with one another about these matters in the workplace, the statutorily guaranteed right to participate in employee organizational activities would be largely empty. (Id. at p. 45, citing Richmond Unified School District/Simi Valley Unified School District, supra, PERB Decision No. 99.) Mohan HS did not put forth any operational necessity for Lim's directive, and Tsai's October 3, 2016 e-mail saying Lim had given the directive in error shows there was none. Therefore, we conclude that Mohan HS violated EERA as alleged in the amended complaint.

REMEDY

PERB has broad remedial powers under EERA section 3541.5, subdivision (c), including:

“The board shall have the power to issue a decision and order directing an offending party to cease and desist from the unfair practice and to take such affirmative action, including but not limited to the reinstatement of employees with or without back pay, as will effectuate the policies of this chapter.”

In cases where an employer’s statements or instructions to employees were found to interfere with protected rights, PERB has ordered the employer to cease and desist from future interference. (Los Angeles Community College District (2014) PERB Decision No. 2404, adopting proposed decision at pp. 21-22; State of California (Employment Development Department) (2001) PERB Decision No. 1365a-S, pp. 11-12.) These are all appropriate remedies here. We shall therefore order the Charter Schools to cease and desist their unlawful conduct and to post a notice to employees.

Further, we will order all Charter Schools to post a notice regarding the violations that were common to all schools, i.e. the failure to meet and discuss the pilot teacher evaluation program and the use of law enforcement to interfere with protected rights. As to the latter violation, the record evidence establishes that new teachers from many, if not all, of the Charter Schools were present at the new teacher orientation on the day the sheriff’s deputies were summoned. Therefore, it is appropriate to post a remedial notice at each of the Charter Schools. (See Placerville Union School District (1978) PERB Decision No. 69, pp. 11-12, overruled on other grounds, San Francisco Community College District (1979) PERB Decision No. 105 [purpose of posting is to notify all employees affected by employer's unfair practices of their rights under EERA].)

With respect to the unfair practices that occurred at specific schools, i.e., Sanchez's unlawful statements at Morgan McKinzie HS and the ejection of organizers at Mohan HS, we will order that the notices include additional language designed to remedy those discrete violations. UTLA argues that Gertz-Ressler HS should be named as a respondent in PERB Case No. LA-CE-6204-E and that it should be required to post a remedial notice regarding the unfair conduct at Mohan HS. We decline to do so because there was no evidence that employees or UTLA organizers were denied access to or removed from Gertz-Ressler HS. We will, however, amend the language of the proposed notice at Morgan McKinzie HS in order to better describe and remedy the unfair practice committed by Sanchez.

Additionally, Alliance Morgan McKinzie High School violated EERA, Government Code section 3543.5, subdivisions (a) and (b), when Arthur Sanchez made unlawful statements during a staff meeting on August 5, 2016, threatening job losses if teachers chose to be represented by UTLA. Additionally, Alliance Dr. Olga Mohan High School violated EERA, Government Code section 3543.5, subdivisions (a) and (b), when its administrative designee ordered an employee and UTLA organizer to leave the school premises on September 29, 2016.

Pursuant to EERA section 3541.5, subdivision (c), it is hereby ORDERED that Respondents, their governing boards, and their representatives shall:

A. CEASE AND DESIST FROM:

1. Interfering with employee rights by failing to meet and discuss with a nonexclusive representative matters of fundamental concern to employees;

2. Interfering with employee rights by asking law enforcement to remove from school premises persons engaged in protected activities.

Additionally, pursuant to EERA section 3541.5, subdivision (c), it is hereby ORDERED that Alliance Morgan McKinzie High School, its governing board, and its representatives shall CEASE AND DESIST FROM:

3. Interfering with employee rights by making unlawful statements threatening job losses if teachers chose to be represented by UTLA.

Additionally, pursuant to EERA section 3541.5, subdivision (c), it is hereby ORDERED that Alliance Dr. Olga Mohan High School, its governing board, and its representatives shall CEASE AND DESIST FROM:

4. Interfering with employee rights by directing persons engaged in protected activities to leave the school premises.

B. TAKE THE FOLLOWING AFFIRMATIVE ACTIONS DESIGNED TO EFFECTUATE THE POLICIES OF THE ACT:

1. Within 10 workdays following the date this Decision is no longer subject to appeal, post at all work locations where notices to certificated employees at Alliance Gertz-Ressler High School/Richard Merkin 6-12 Complex, Alliance Collins Family College-Ready Academy High School, Alliance Judy Ivie Burton Technology Academy High School, Alliance Marc and Eva Stern Math and Science School, Alliance Patti and Peter Neuwirth Leadership Academy, Alliance Ouchi – O'Donovan 6-12 Complex, Alliance Piera Barbaglia Shaheen Health Services Academy, Alliance Leichtman-Levin Family Foundation Environmental Science High School, Alliance Cindy and Bill Simon Technology Academy High School, Alliance Tennenbaum Family Technology High School, Alliance Susan and Eric Smidt Technology High School,
